The Case of Kemmler,

It can make no real difference to Kemmler, the wife murderer, whether he goes off by electricity or at the end of a rope. It does, however, make great difference to the rival electrical companies and to the lawyers acting for Kemmler and possibly, to an extent, for the said companies as well. The lawyers on Kemmler's side have said that he shall not go off by electricity, and it will the said companies as we said that he on Kemmler's side have said that he shall not go off by electricity, and it will be fame and money for them to make good their prediction.
